

Every optical metric separates generated from real (only topology names the axis)

